

HANDOUT I: HEALTH AND SAFETY STORIES—WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

Story #1: You work in a large warehouse. You notice that someone working next to you has cut his hand with the box cutter and is bleeding...

What is the problem here? What should you do?

Whom should you talk to? What would you say?

Story #2: Your job is to separate cans and bottles at a place that recycles them. When you started this job, your boss gave you some fact sheets on safety to read. But you are not a good reader. You still have no idea what safety rules you are supposed to follow. Now your boss wants you to sign a paper saying they taught you about safety.

What is the problem here? What should you do?

Whom should you talk to? What would you say?

Story #3: Your job is to put parts together in a factory. You have to work fast, and you are good at your job. Lately, your arms, neck, and hands hurt a lot. The pain wakes you up at night.

What is the problem here? What should you do?

Whom should you talk to? What would you say?

Story #4: You are a new employee at a grocery store, where you bag groceries. Your supervisor asks you to help in the deli. He tells you to clean the meat slicing machine. You've never done this job before. You don't know what to do.

What is the problem here? What should you do?

Whom should you talk to? What would you say?

Story #5: You work for a big laundry company. One day, your boss tells you to clean out the large washing machines. You have to climb inside to wipe them out. You worry the machine might start up while you are in it. You know the machine should be unplugged first.

What is the problem here? What should you do?

Whom should you talk to? What would you say?

Story #6: You are part of a crew that takes care of the grounds outside of a building. One day it is very hot outside, and you have been working very hard. You start to feel dizzy, and you think you might faint from the heat.

What is the problem here? What should you do?

Whom should you talk to? What would you say?

